

Dear colleague,

The eleventh edition of the STAHY International Workshop, STAHY 2021, finally will be on-line, in order to eliminate any uncertainty concerning its development, and with reduced registration fees.

This event is organized by the International Commission on Statistical Hydrology (ICSH), of the International Association of Hydrological Sciences (IAHS), and the Research Institute of Water and Environmental Engineering (IIAMA) of the Universtat Politècnica de València (UPV).

Submissions are OPEN and can be made via the STAHY-2021 website or in the following link. General topics include:

- Extreme hydrological and meteorological analysis under global changes
- Quantifying uncertainty in hydrological predictions
- Hydrological design and risk assessment under changing environment
- Applications of big data, data mining and information theory
- Data assimilation for hydrological forecasts
- New approaches in time series analysis
- Spatio-temporal variability and scaling
- Geostatistics in groundwater and surface hydrology

Best presentations will be invited to a Special Issue in Hydrological Sciences Journal.

It is also noteworthy that during the Workshop Prof. Jose Salas will receive the ICSH Achievement Award for his giant and outstanding contribution to the science of Statistical Hydrology.

One day before the Workshop (15 September), the traditional Early Career Course will take place, which will be entirely free for all those registered in the Workshop.

Important dates:

- Abstract submission deadline: June 30, 2021
- Notification of abstract acceptance: July 25, 2021
- Early bird registration deadline: August 31, 2021

Conference fees:

Category	Early bird	Standard rate
Regular	€ 120	€ 150
Students	€ 60	€ 75

Early career hydrologists from financially disadvantaged countries who are participating in the conference can apply for the SYSTA scheme that pays conference fees. Full details of the SYSTA eligibility criteria and application procedure can be found at <https://iahs.info/About-IAHS/SYSTA.do>
